

Darla Henning is the founder and CEO of HyperdriveTV, a cutting-edge global Internet distribution company. Based in Philadelphia, PA, HyperdriveTV provides filmed content and LIVE events to worldwide audiences looking for a new multi-media experience. In addition to their large library, HyperdriveTV specializes in streaming unique programming including film festivals, live comedy and sporting events. They are proud to be the official Internet broadcaster of the 2011 Belize International Film Festival.

Prior to launching HyperdriveTV, Ms. Henning was a corporate leader specializing in Information Technology and Business Development. She led many multi-million dollar businesses and initiatives for Fortune 500 companies including SAP America, Dow Chemical and DuPont.

Ms. Henning holds a BBA in Computer Science from Temple University (cum laude), an MBA from Villanova University and a Professional Certificate in Screenwriting from UCLA. In her spare time, she teaches undergraduate classes at Temple University, coaches her sons' track and field team and writes professionally.